Elizabeth Elliott was intrigued by what was going on out on the ice during the dress rehearsal for the Minden Figure Skating Club's Performance of 'Disney Skates'. Elizabeth was one of the three little pigs in one of the earlier performances and continued to wear the nose part of her costume even when she wasn't skating. If the dress rehearsal is any indication, Sunday's show should have been a tremendous success.

Wild Water Park fails to attract its share of tourists

Despite the growing attention that kayaking is gaining as an international sport, the Minden Wild Water Preserve is still not successful as a major tourist attraction, Anson, Hindon and Minden council complained Thursday.

Roger Parsons and Bob Grose from the Ontario

Wild Water Affiliation attended the council meeting to provide details on a major new event that is planned for the Minden course this summer. However, they were met with concerns about the lack of attention the Gull River rapids are garnering in spite of the amount of money being invested in course improvements.

This summer on the Canada Day weekend, the third leg of a World Cup Slalom series will be held in Minden. Grose told council that this new concept of international competition will allow European racers the opportunity to get a flavour of the Minden course. He said this is important in order to increase Toronto's chances of winning the right to host the 1996 Summer Olympics. If Toronto does get the Olympics, Minden will be the site of the Kayak events.

Group calls for expanded French instruction

French Immersion should be available to all children in Canada, a spokesperson for the Canadian Parents for French told a group of parents in Minden last Tuesday.

With about 20 parents on hand at the informational meeting at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, a very strong interest in establishing a French Immersion program within Haliburton County was demonstrated. Deborah Wales, one of the original members of the lobby organization CPF, told the group how the immersion programs work and encouraged them to strive for the establishment of a program here.

"I feel very strongly that every Canadian child should have the right to become bilingual through the publicly funded education system," said the mother of two immersion students in Wellington County. Although immersion is now available at almost every large board in Canada, it is still more of a privilege than a right, she said.

The popularity of French Immersion has increased dramatically over the past decade in response to the increasing demand for bilingual employees. The program has grown to the point where it is now offered by every major school board in the country and is gradually making its way into the smaller boards. Wales noted that in 1986, there were 175,000 students enrolled in immersion programs in Canada.

And to encourage boards to make the

41 deer killed near Percy Lake

Adding substance to beliefs that there is a problem with wolf populations in Haliburton County are recent reports that as many as 41 deer have been killed in the Percy Lake feeding yard this winter.

Eric Mitchell, enforcement co-ordinator for the fish and wildlife arm of the Minden Ministry of Natural Resources, says there is a problem with two wolf packs that have been roving in that area. He estimates that between 26 and 41 deer have been killed in the deer feeding yard so far this winter.

The deer kills were reported to the ministry by John Barnett, who has the trapping licence for the yard, which is located between Haliburton

Lake and Percy Lake. Other kills have been reported by people who are cutting trees in the 70-square-kilometre area.

Mitchell said the ministry has asked Barnett to prepare a map of the area, indicating where the killed deer have been found. In addition, a predator control officer has been spending at least one day a week in the area helping to set out traps.

A few months ago, Haliburton County Council stirred tremendous controversy when it doubled the bounty on wolves trapped here. The increased bounty was in response to a rising wolf population and was met with overwhelming opposition from area naturalists.

FOREST FIRES BURN MORE THAN TREES

During 1987, 50 forest fires occurred in the Haliburton and Minden areas. The months of April and May are the most dangerous time. Dead grass and leaves will allow a fire to spread very quickly resulting in the potential loss of life, dwellings and forested land.

Before you burn your grass, brush or debris, remember these important points:

1. You must obtain a fire permit;
2. Ensure that a responsible person tends the fire;
3. Keep the fire under control;
4. Upon completion, put your fire dead out. Even if it appears to be out, stir it, and drown it with water, again and again, until you're sure it is out.

 FIRE PERMITS ARE FREE OF CHARGE ***

During the fire season (April 1st to October 31st) the Forest Fires Prevention Act requires you to obtain a permit to be kept at the burning site and shown to an officer upon request. If you don't, you could be fined up to $1,000.00, imprisonment up to three months and liable for any costs and expenses involved in extinguishing a resulting fire.

Tina and Erica Franzen took top honours in the junior division of the science fair at Kinmount Public School last week with their project on yeast. They made a variety of breads to determine which dough would rise the fastest and found that pumpernickel was the winner. Taking second place in the juniors was Kalala Rossowski and Heather Clark. Colleen Longhurst and Veronica Johnston were third, Dan Magee was fourth and Shayne Hartin was fifth.

Prov. Const. Jim Morris investigated.

Prov. Const. B.J. Connelly investigated.

Theft charges laid

A young offender has been charged as a result of an investigation into theft of flags and thefts from newspaper coin boxes in Haliburton over the past weeks. The young offender will appear in court in April charged with two counts of Theft under and two counts of Possession of Stolen Property.

Man rescued from icy water

A late-night tragedy was narrowly averted on March 20 when a Woodbridge man was rescued from the icy waters of Gull Lake by a local cottager.

John Clubine, 29, of Woodbridge was snowmobiling across the lake with a friend when his sled broke through the ice. Richard Maisonneuve, a nearby cottager, happened to be awake and saw the machine go down. He was able to get a rope to Clubine and eventually pull him out of the water.

Clubine was taken to the Minden Hospital where he was treated for hypothermia.

Minden OPP Const. Jim Morris investigated this accident.

Acid rain report

The following report on precipitation events is based on readings taken at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset as compiled by Environment Canada.

There were two events during the latest reporting period:

- March 13, 4 cm snow, pH 4.5, from north western Quebec and central Ontario.

- March 18, 2 cm snow, 4.3 pH, from Lake Superior, Michigan and southern Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

With the likely formation of a local chapter of Canadian Parents for French, the Haliburton County Board of Education will soon be forced to take a more serious look at the possibility of setting up a French Immersion program in the county.

CPF, made up of parents who only want the best for their children, has proven to be a very effective lobbying force in almost every part of the country and there is every reason to believe a Haliburton chapter will be equally as successful.

French Immersion is hardly a new concept. It is hailed as a huge success by school boards across Canada for its ability to create bilingualism through the publicly funded school system. Bilingualism is a measurable asset as more and more employers demand it of their staff.

However, implementing French Immersion is not a simple task and the inherent problems will be magnified when set in this very small school board.

There can be no question about the benefits of French Immersion to the students who are to be enrolled. However, the board's ability to offer this program without causing financial strain or damaging the rest of the school system is very much in question.

We will be told that French Immersion can be implemented at virtually no extra cost to the local taxpayers because of special incentive grants offered by the Ministry of Education. However, we find this very difficult to believe when a study by one large school board recently estimated initial start-up costs at almost $350,000. It has been suggested that this figure was inflated by a board reluctant to offer the program, but we still believe there will be some costs, at least in the initial stages.

Other problems to be dealt with include transportation of students from all areas of the county to the school where the program will be offered. It is the parents' decision whether they are willing to allow their children to spend hours on a bus. However, it is the board that must establish the busing network and pay the bills.

Probably the biggest problem as we see it would be in the hiring of teachers. In order to teach French Immersion, a teacher must have French as a Second Language Qualifications, and there is a definite shortage of these people. In an effort to plan ahead on the need, most boards are forced to hire only teachers with this qualification, whether or not that teacher will be in an immersion class. Thus, every other teaching specialty - music, physical education, art, etc., - is overlooked.

The list of potential problems is a long one. However, the one great benefit of French Immersion makes it necessary for the board to give it some very serious consideration.

We believe that, if at all possible, students in this county should have the opportunity that is available to most other Canadian children. At the same time, though, there must be some very careful planning to ensure that the rest of the school system is not affected. The local CPF chapter will be lobbying for the introduction of this program as soon as possible. The challenge for the board will be to resist the pressure until it is certain that all the wrinkles can be ironed out.

Final frost

Welcome to the limbo season

black 'n white

by Arthur Black

*April is the cruelest month ... mixing
Memory with desire, stirring Dull roots with spring rain.*

Old T. S. Eliot has a point there, you know. This is a heartbreaking stretch of the calendar we're plodding through - and not just April, but the tag end of March and often the first few treacherous days of

May, to boot.

I know that it's more chic to whine about the frigid frosts of February or the tropical torpor of August, but when it comes to outright meteorological sadism, I think early Canadian spring deserves at least a nervous nod of respect. European poets prattle about the joys of springtime gardens. Canucks know better. Only a fool or an American would let the sight of that first melting snowbank gull him into taking off the snowtires or prematurely stowing the Sorels in the attic. Any Canadian with even a dusting of perma-two left in his repertoire.

It's tough, this limbo season, and Canadians have evolved a variety of ways to handle it. Some guys go blind poring over seed catalogues. Others spend all their spare time in the cellar, endlessly oiling their Toros. Still others metamorphose into couch potatoes before their TVs, watching the interminable Stanley Cup semi-quasi-hemi-quarter-not-quite-final playoffs that go on from now until the next Ice Age.

Really desperate Canucks have been known to sink to curling.

Me? I have my own spring ritual: I check out the Arctic Loons.

Naw, they're not birds. They're people. Crazy people. You can catch 'em in mid-migration through the far North every year about this time. Arctic Loons are what I call that small and hardy band of maniacs who choose this time of year to...

...go to the North Pole.

Yes, I'm serious. And there is a kind of demented logic to it. If you accept that there's anything logical about EVER wanting to go to the North Pole, then spring is the best time to make the trek. The days are getting longer, the ice is still fairly reliable and the weather is ... well, about as good as it gets up there.

As I type these words there are five people poised on the uppermost shingles of Canada's roof and heading north: three Brits, one Austrian and an Alaskan.

The Alaskan is Pam Flowers, a 41-year-old adventuress who hopes to become the first woman to walk the Pole solo. The Austrian is Bernard Klammer. He too, is walking to the Pole, along with three sled dogs. The three-man British team is led by Sir Ralph Fines. Sir Ralph and his chappies hope to become the first walking expedition to make the trip without any food drops. The crackling radio dispatches Sir Ralph sends back are inspirational. They speak of the spirit of endeavour ... the challenge of the unconquered ... the thrill of falling into the Arctic Ocean...

When I first heard about the crowd of foreign Arctic Loons currently shuffling toward our North Pole, I took perverse pride in the fact that there wasn't a Canuck among them. "Aha!" I said to myself. "At last we're getting smart. While the rest of the world mills around in our attic, courting chilblains and frostbite, Canadians, bless their sensible little hearts, are staying close to the hearth."

No such luck. Our countrymen are up there too, heading for the Pole from the other side. A 13-man team composed of four Canadians and nine Russians is currently skiing - skiing - north from Siberia.

They expect a camp in Santa's backyard in about three months time.

Why, you might ask, would any sane representative of the genus homo sapiens freely choose to do this to itself? Beats me. I enjoy Canada's four seasons as much as any frostback, but I find winter quite long enough as it is, thank you very much. I am now ready for spring, and I can think of nothing I'd fancy less than to be hunkered down on a patch of Arctic pack ice, staring at the backsides of a team of Malamutes huffing and chuffing north.

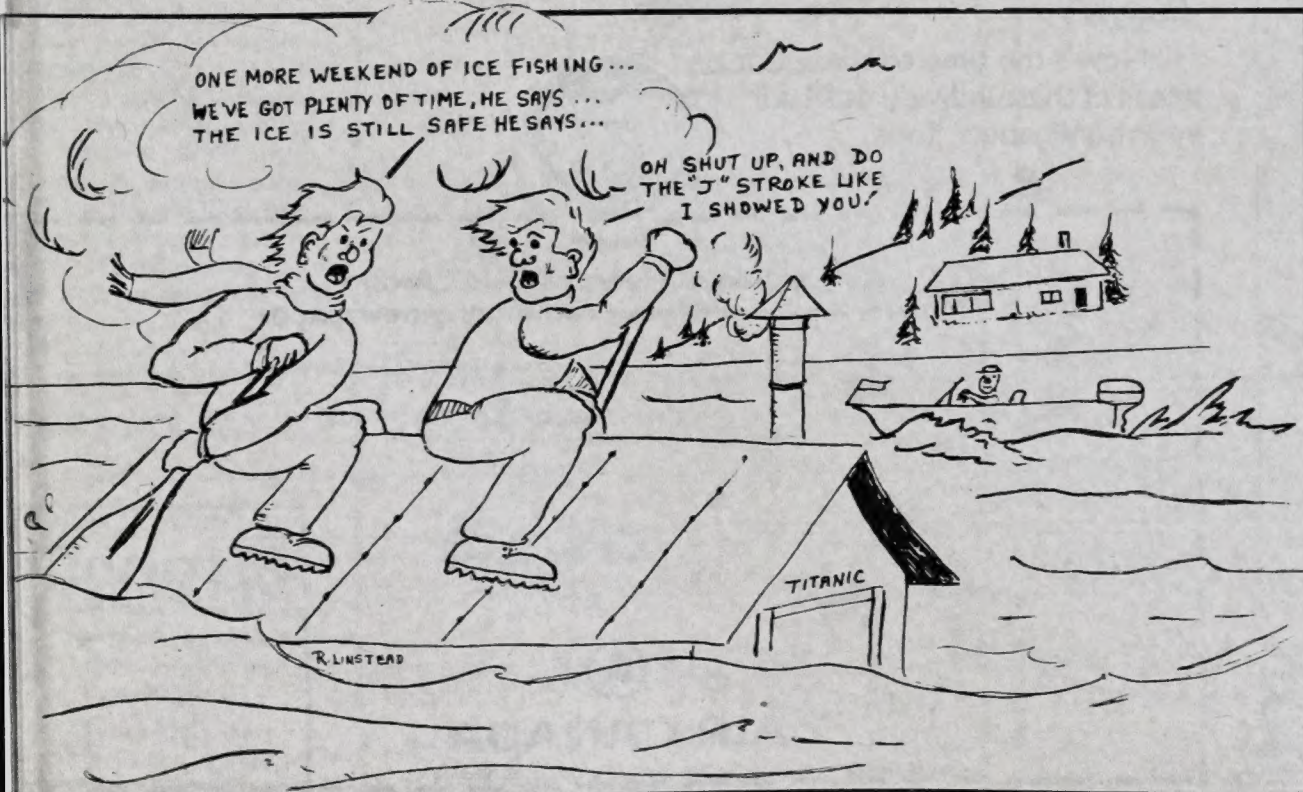

Let Sir Ralph and his ilk joust with the challenge of the Canadian Arctic. I plan to take my inspirational guidance from another, somewhat more southerly adventurer.

About the time Sir Ralph is performing as Polar Bear bait, I'll be taking Mr. Dundee's advice - popping a few more shrimps on the barby.

New cartoon

The Times is pleased to welcome back to its pages, the drawings of Ralph Linstead. Ralph contributed a number of drawings for publication when the newspaper carried the banner of The Progress. He moved away from Minden, before the newspaper's name was changed to The Times, and returned two years ago to take over the Minden Taxi Service.

Ralph's cartoons will take a wry look at life in the Highlands adding an interesting comical twist to everyday events. With the closing of the ice fishing season just days away, his first cartoon portrays what can happen to those who leave the task of removing their huts from the lakes to the last minute.

G.I. Joe?

directions

by Edward Moll

"And they crucified him."

Four short words to describe an event that changed the universe is all Mark the gospel writer uses. I was thinking about them as I was reading through the advertising section of a rival newspaper. Easter specials on chocolates, and Easter bunnies, and toothpaste, Transformers, dolls and G.I. Joe.

G.I. Joe?

And I thought of Contras in Nicaragua killing civilians, burning villages and blowing up such potentially dangerous military targets as schools, medical clinics and buses...

G.I. Joe?

And I thought of the dead in Halabja, Iraq after a chemical weapons attack on the town. Useless destruction because there was no enemy there.

G.I. Joe?

And I thought of the way a child described to me, in chilling innocence, the way his father beat his mother up by knocking her head against the stove.

G.I. Joe?

And I thought of what my three-year-old son was saying to me after he was playing with some friends of his: "The good guys kill the bad guys 'casue the bad guys are bad."

And the more I thought of G.I. Joe being sold as an Easter gift, the more a cold, black rage swept through my heart. This has nothing to do with Easter, or Christmas, or play, or humanity, or life. Our erotic fascination with violence as a way of dealing with life and other human beings kills and injures not only other people, but ourselves. We become insensitive to the needs of others, we class them as "Bad" or "Good".

We become the mob that would see nothing better than the execution of someone who is different, or threatening, or useless.

"And they crucified him." If it happened today, he, (or more likely, she) would have been clubbed to death with the butt of a National Guardsman's rifle, or had his face destroyed by a "rubber" bullet in Soweto, or raped and strangled in an underground parking lot, or just ignored on a city street as dirty, unkempt and drunk.

By the time you read this, it will be the beginning of Holy Week, those few days before Easter when the church remembers where its roots are. I ask myself sometimes, what is so holy about a bloody, beaten, remote Galilean jew, Roman spittle on his face, choking to death on an instrument of execution reserved for criminals and traitors?

Nothing.

And everything.

Nothing because violence, terror, and death are not holy. They are obscene expressions of our rebellion against each other and against God. Their roots are in our own hearts. No one is exempt. It was a G.I. Joe who drove the nails into Jesus. It was a G.I. Joe who hoisted the cross and its load and chunked them into the waiting hole. It was a G.I. Joe who gave vinegar to drink as a typical Roman army joke.

What bothers me most about this is the realization that I am part of that whole violent system that crucified my Lord. G.I. Joe and I are not all that different.

And yet, everything about that event is holy. As embarrassing as it may seem, the church throughout the ages has pointed to the figure on the cross and said: "If you want to know where God is, look there."

Look at the innocent victim of violence, whether it be a dead child in Halabja, or a beaten woman in Minden. And look at the cross again. You will find that God is keenly acquainted with suffering and death.

You will find that God feels bad, too. In the suffering and death of that one human being, Jesus of Nazareth, God, in the words of Noel Paul Stookey:

"...collected all the sorrow in our eyes.

He gives us love as God directed, but is seldom recognized."

There is more. If you want to find out, come to church this Sunday.

A boost for the winter economy

Editor:

No one has to be reminded that it's the middle of March - everyone is aware that spring is imminent! What I think we deserve is a "pat on the back", for the period that we, once again, have just gone through. I am referring to January through to March, our winter period. Sometimes this can be harsh and uninteresting to the area residents, and at all times very financially depressing for our year-round businesses, if left on its own to run its natural course. Fortunately that's not the case for our Haliburton County in general or our Minden area in particular. Let's look at the elements and conditions which are in the forefront during this period.

The predominant one is the weather. We do take what we get but these other elements come into play to use our weather as much as we possibly can, to our own advantage, for pleasure and profit. We are fortunate that our business community, service clubs, organizations, area residents and town council, realize the winter economy necessities, and work together proud of our area in all seasons. We have many winter examples of this, i.e. Snowarama, Winter Carnival, Dog Sled Races, Hockey, Curling Tournaments, and Ice Car Races.

What I would like to highlight at this time are the ice car races. These events come just at the right time, and have helped me as a business person, as well as every other business establishment within a ten mile radius of Minden. It includes all those deriving revenue from "food, fuel and accommodations", the backbone of our tourist-oriented economy.

The Canadian Automobile Sports Club has just successfully completed another season of "ice car racing", held at Minden. Time passes quickly. It's hard to realize that approximately 13 years ago, Tom Prentice, in association with the Kinsmen Club brought this event to Minden. The Canadian Automobile Sports Club was looking for a safe location for these well-attended races, by their club members, getting them off the unsafe and environment prone lakes to a regulated, safe land track, easily accessible to the majority of their members. Minden fits the bill, and after some growing pains, through the efforts of interested individuals, clubs, Minden Fair Board and Minden Council, the track was established on its present location, next to the recreation centre. Now to that winter period. Since the middle of January to the middle of March, these clubs have visited us six weekends in a row, 12 full days for food, fuel and accommodations, not mentioning their entertainment at night. They have brought well over 100 entries each day, with an average of three people a car. This works out to well over 350 people coming into our area daily. These people are toddlers to senior citizens, from Tweed to London, Barry, Peterborough to the Lakeshore, and all areas in between. They are being accommodated from the Stone Fountain Motel, north to Nobel Motel, Mulberry House, Wagon Wheel, E.J. Motel to Highlands Motel. I'm sure they will be very pleased when accommodations are more readily available in the immediate area.

These events themselves provide four area men part-time work during this period, as well as $3,000 to $4,000, put back into the community by the Kinsmen Club, and over $1,000 which the Kinettes earn from the chuckwagon, once again put back into the community. That's just from the clubs. Our overall area economy will

The following is an open letter to the residents of Haliburton County:

After years of festival competitions, our high school's Jazz Band has attained recognition outside of Haliburton County. In past years we have competed in Bracebridge, Gravenhurst, Bancroft and Peterborough. This year, in competition with other jazz bands and stage bands from all over the Barrie area, the HHSS Jazz Band was awarded the Gold Standard of Excellence and received an invitation on March 14th to compete at the National Finals May 18 - 22 in Calgary. These performances involving the best high school music groups from all over Canada will be taped by CBC and aired on national television following the competition.

Naturally, the 23 members of the group are very excited about their achievement and the opportunity it affords. Almost all of them are senior students, and many of those are now into their third or fourth year of weekly rehearsals that continue throughout the school year.

We are happy to say that our participation in this national competition has the approval and support have received a "shot in the arm" equal to the amount of revenue left by over 350 people for the six weekends they stayed with us. That's where I come in. I'm one of the year-round businesses very thankful for this "shot in the arm" to our area economy.

This is a professional sanctioned race, providing exciting entertainment, at no charge to the spectators. They don't start on Sunday until the afternoon, in respect of the "Lord's Day Act", and when the season is all over, the grounds are cleaned and raked, ready for the summer events. Many of these same people are going to be seen in the summer, and their friends. There is no better public relations available than events such as this along with the other winter events, to create the desire to see our area in all of our seasons. To top this all off, the Minden Council has sponsored the "Sportsman of the Year" award for this event. No better way to extend the invitation, "we appreciate your patronage, welcome to our community and come back soon!"

The ice car racing at the fairgrounds recently completed its season. Again this year, the races proved to be very popular with both racers and spectators.

The crows have returned

This morning I awakened to a tumult. Outside my window half a dozen crows swooped back and forth, calling raucously. Several settled in a large Manitoba maple while the others continued to circle around a tall spruce. Was all that fuss about anything or was it merely hormones reactivated by the lengthening days? Carefully I scanned the spruce for signs of an owl. Nothing. By the time I had my slippers and my robe the noisy gang had departed. This time apparently there was no owl, but often that kind of commotion is a sure indication that a Great Horned Owl or a Long-eared Owl is roosting nearby. If people recognize any birds, one of these will be the crow. Large, loud and dark it can only be confused with the raven. Less massive than the raven and less graceful in flight, the crow sings tenor while the raven is a baritone. Also the crow will live at much closer quarters with man than the raven. This is ironic in view of (more on page 13)

And so, given the limits that time restrictions will place on our fundraising ventures, we will be relying heavily on financial support from our community. We ask you to consider giving your financial support to the efforts of these young musicians who have earned an invitation to represent Haliburton County in national competition. It is our hope that you are able to give generously but, of course, any gift large or small will be greatly appreciated.

Group formed to promote French Immersion program available Canadian Parents for French was formed. CPF is now an effective nation-wide lobby group with more than 18,000 members. It has a national office in Ottawa and head offices in each province.

The topic of French

Immersion has come up for discussion at meetings of the Haliburton County Board of Education as the trustees eye the progress being made in neighbouring Muskoka. Only recently, that board voted to implement the program beginning next September.

Wales noted that with this move by the Muskoka board, Haliburton is now surrounded by boards offering the very popular form of French education. She said this fact should be an advantage in convincing the Haliburton board that immersion should be offered here.

French Immersion is just what the name indicates. The program has students being taught completely in French in the early grades, providing them with a solid grasp of the language. They are taught the traditional subjects, but the language used is French rather than English.

The program comes in a variety of forms, but Wales says the most popular and effective is early immersion. This begins in kindergarten and instruction is given entirely in French until Grade 3. At this point, English instruction is gradually introduced until the students are being taught half in English and half in French.

Wales dispelled concerns that the children's English communication skills would suffer in this program, noting that more than 20 years of studies on immersion have proven the opposite. Although immersion students may lag behind their English counterparts in the very early grades, studies show they will catch up, by Grade 5.

The goal of the program is to provide students with an opportunity to become "functionally bilingual" by the time they graduate from high school. Immersion is one step beyond the core French programs now being offered in Haliburton, but does fall short of making the students "fluently bilingual." In order to gain fluency in the language, students should be given the opportunity for further exposure to French outside of school, said Wales.

Despite the size of the Haliburton board, Wales believes immersion can be implemented here without causing a financial strain. She encouraged parents to work with trustees in finding the least costly way of introducing immersion here.

Initially, she admitted there will be some costs to the board. However, she said the Ministry of Education provides incentive grants that can actually turn the program into a profit maker for the board. She noted that a costs study was carried out in Wellington County that showed grants were, in fact, exceeding costs for the program at the primary level.

In the next while, the local group should start working to find out if there is enough interest in Haliburton to warrant the program, said Wales. She recommended a minimum class size of 25. If that can be achieved, it is only a question of whether the school board wants it. She warned the group that it normally takes two to three years of work before the board is convinced. However, she noted that this is an opportune time to find out how trustees feel with the municipal election coming in November.

Don White retires from MNR post

Fifteen years ago, Don White and his family began to build a home on their 86-acre lot on the Scotch Line. Now, with a bit more time on his hands, White hopes to finish off the house.

The Whites came to Minden in April of 1973 when Don accepted the position of District Manager for the Minden District of the Ministry of Natural Resources. For the first four years, Don, his wife Marilyn and their four children lived next to the ministry office while they built their new house. "It was a family project," said White. All the lumber for the framing and sheeting was cut right on the property. All the stones were gathered from area fields. "Four years of weekends, days and nights, and it still isn't quite finished. But now I have more time to fool around with it."

After almost 35 years as an employee of the Ministry of Natural Resources, 15 of which were spent as the Minden District Manager, White is retiring. And although he says he is making no firm commitments of his time, he has lots to keep him busy.

Like so many others who have built their own homes, progress slowed right down when they finally moved in in 1977. After almost four years of cutting trees and gathering rocks for the beautiful stonework they'd had enough when the house was finished enough for them to move in. "We really worked hard until we got moved in, then we began to sit back."

The work yet to be completed is not noticeable to visitors, but White knows there are plenty of small jobs still to be done. He plans to get these jobs finished up now that he is retired.

First things first, though. The warm weather over the past week will likely get the sap flowing in the maple trees on his property, and right now he is getting ready to tap some sap. And then there's the firewood that needs to be cut before next winter. And of course, he has to make time for some hunting and fishing.

White loves hunting, and has never missed a deer hunt. He also enjoys bird hunting with his dog, but in recent years has not been able to find the time. He is hoping that he will have more time now to get out bird hunting, as well as go fishing.

Many changes

Over the past 35 years, White has seen many changes taking place at the ministry. When he started work, it was with the Department of Lands and Forests, and he worked for three years on a part-time basis before being hired permanently.

One of the most apparent changes is in the qualifications of the employees. When he started out, employees did not need any special qualifications. If you were willing to work hard, you had a job, he said. Now, it is so hard to get a permanent job with the ministry, that special qualifications are necessary.

Competition for ministry jobs is fierce now, he says. For every opening there are at least 50 applications, and most are from qualified people, he said.

Most new employees now face from five to six years of contract work before they are hired full-time.

Now that Don White has retired after fifteen years as the Minden District Manager for the Ministry of Natural Resources, he and his wife Marilyn will be busy finishing off the house. Their home on Scotch Line Road was built by the family when they first moved here.

Lively music, great skating and outstanding costumes all combine to make an entertaining skating carnival. Although Sunday's carnival was too late to make this week's paper, the dress rehearsal on Wednesday was a promising indication of what was to come. With the music and characters from a wide range of Disney productions, the local skaters performed almost flawlessly in this practice run. The costuming which was arranged by costume co-ordinators Nancy Garbutt and Joanne Berube, was just tremendous.

Crows are excluded from protection

the systematic persecution man has carried out against the crow. Man has seen it as a nuisance in the grainfields and around domestic fowl. Relentlessly the crow has been shot and poisoned. In the Ontario Game and Fish Act, the crow is specifically excluded from the protection afforded other nongame birds. In spite of our war against it, it still survives in all parts of its wide range, gregarious and vocal as ever. For its abilities as a survivor I salute it.

Although the crow stands condemned as a lover of corn and a taker of eggs and small birds when it has the opportunity, its resourcefulness in obtaining food is illustrated by the fact that 650 different food items have been identified in the diet of North American crows. The gardener benefits from the crow's voracious appetite for cutworms, June bug larvae, beetles and caterpillars. Its diet may also include grasshoppers, amphibians and reptiles, fruit and nuts, and carrion. In my area it has also learned to rip open green garbage bags.

Since the crow prefers open country with scattered woods, it adapts readily to urban conditions. Although it was not difficult for those compiling records for the Atlas of Breeding Birds of Ontario to locate the nesting areas of these noisy birds, so discreet are they around the nest that few nests were found.

Although crows do migrate, some remain in southern Ontario all winter. In early winter they appear singly or with a companion, flapping heavy and silent, dark shapes against the pale cold sky. By mid-February they have gathered in noisy, bickering groups. How many are returning migrants is impossible to say.

I enjoy watching crows because they are so much like us. They are noisy, aggressive, and, in the protection of a flock, bullies. In their courtship, two males will often close in violent aerial conflict which sometimes ends with the antagonists rolling about on the ground. The successful suitor will settle beside the female, full of delicate attentions.

Despite our best efforts the crow survives. Glossy and self-important it struts across my driveway.

Capturing the pioneer flavour

by Jack Brezina

The kitchen is always the warmest room in a farm house. The wood stove gently crackling gives off a radiant glow, the soothing odour of a kitchen used for more than defrosting food fills the air, and the warmth of genuine rural hospitality is always its richest when guests are seated around the kitchen table.

I hadn't travelled to the home of Roy and Marian Newman on Highway 503 between Norland and Kinmount with the expectation of a country kitchen welcome. I knew this couple, in their mid seventies, were bubbly and outgoing. We had met on several occasions when they were in town to do some shopping. Inevitably, our paths crossed at Northland Sales where, in the general store like atmosphere, the Newmans regaled the proprietor, Stuart Brandon, staff Nola Danilko and Marjorie Coulter, assorted customers and myself with their sparkling personalities.

During their visit to the store, the couple would engage in a patter of good-natured verbal jousting. Exchanging humorous barbs, the Newmans would keep their impromptu audience in stitches, drawing them into the give and take, building on comments offered by the others in the store to create a fun-filled dialogue. Listening, one gets the impression of a loving couple who have become very comfortable with each other over many years of marriage.

It was during one of these pleasant winter afternoon exchanges that I learned that Roy Newman was a craftsman of miniature log cabins. The doll house-sized creations have attracted the attention of a number of individuals who have placed their orders with Roy for a log cabin of their own.

While Roy, a retired lumberjack, enjoys the time spent creating these miniature homes, he sets his own pace. A heart attack several years ago provided a signal to him and, while he obviously takes pride in the work he does, Roy refuses to be rushed or pressured. He is enjoying one of the dividends that comes with retirement.

His ability to work with wood is well-known in the area and acquaintances are often asking him to carve a handle for a sledge or an axe. In his workshop, adjacent to their home, evidence of his expertise hangs from hooks - partially finished handles in hickory and rock elm await the sweaty hands of a strong backed hewer.

At the Newman's, the warmth of their rural kitchen is almost rivalled by Roy's workshop. He constructed the small building with his working comfort in mind. The small cozy shop, a few steps from the house, is quickly warmed by the small stove in the corner. A generous array of south and west facing windows floods the shop with light and captures the welcome rays of the sun, particularly on chilly winter days.

Roy's workbench lines the wall below the southern windows. From his work stool he looks across the scrubby fields of north Victoria County to the pine bush beyond. Within an arm's reach from where he sits are virtually all the tools he needs. It is here that he creates his log cabins, whittling the ends of the logs from small poplar and cedar trees gathered from his property, each log is set individually in place. Each corner is crafted with a blade, using the same care and precision that pioneers would bring to creating the corners of their homes with an axe. The miniature logs nestle closely, one atop another, as the precise walls of the cabin rise. With equal care, the rafters are carved and set in place, prior to the application of a bark roof.

The hinges on the cabin's front door are fashioned from leather as is the door closer. A small barrel stove is crafted from a painted can and thin pipe chimney. Furniture of a simple design, no doubt similar to the rough tables, benches and beds first fashioned by the pioneers completes the log cabin. Roy uses a plaster mixture to fill the cracks between the logs, while a coat of varnish gives it a finishing touch. At the request of those who have ordered the log structure, a few of the cabins are equipped with small electric lights, somewhat out of character for a pioneer home, but the light provides a warm cherry glow through the plexiglass windows.

The workshop, with its smell of fresh cut wood, warm glow from the fire box and litter of sawdust and shavings is Roy's little hide-away. Often he will be similar to what is in place for downhill skiing. Seven events are being organized. Three will be in the U.S., one in Ireland, one in England, one in Germany and one in Canada. "We've been selected because the Gull is one of the best sites in the world," said Grose.

Roy Newman enjoys working on the miniature log cabins that he builds for his friends and acquaintances. The benches, table and bed in the foreground will be a part of the furnishings of his latest project.

Wild Water Park should attract more spectators

Yet, despite the constantly rising level of competition at the preserve, the number of spectators coming to the events is not on the rise. "I thought when the course was first proposed it would be a lot bigger draw than it is," said Reeve Sinc Nesbitt. He said he is not sure if the blame should lie with the municipality or with the Wild Water Affiliation, but something should be done to increase the attraction. "Something's wrong," he said. "We're not getting the people we should get. For some reason we're not getting the people we should get. For some reason or other, we're not reaching enough people to get a response."

Grose estimated there will be about 3,000 people out at the course for the World Cup race on July 1 and 2. He was asking council to provide various facilities along the course during this time.

Nesbitt compared the projected success of this race with that of the Minden Sled Dog Derby. He noted that the derby was able to bring about 8,000 people into town for a weekend in the winter and suggested that the kayak events should be at least as popular.

Grose is also facing problems because of the relative low turnout of spectators. He said he has been trying to get a major sponsor for this summer's big race, but is finding difficulty because of the limited attention that would be gained. He told council that all six other races on the world cup series have attracted major sponsors and will receive major media coverage. However, without the sponsor, the race here will not get the coverage it deserves. In contrast, Grose estimated that 30,000 people will attend each of the other six races.

In past years, the preserve has been the site of the Canadian Nationals, as well as one of the two Pan-Am slalom races. The World Cup Circuit is a step above either of these in terms of level of competition.

The World Cup Slalom is the third race in a series of seven races that make up the circuit. World Cup placings will be determined by the points earned in the seven races, with the World Final being held in Augsburg, Germany on August 21.

The July 1 and 2 race in Minden will be a combination of both the Pan-Am Slalom and a leg of the World Cup Slalom. Both international races will be run together on the same course and attract up to 120 of the top paddlers from twenty countries around the world. Included in the field will be Anton Prijon, last year's world champion in the K-1; Liz Sharma, the women's K-1 world champion; John Lugbill, world C-1 champion and Patrice Gagnon the Canadian kayak champion.

Although races are not expected to begin until Friday, July 1, many of the competitors will be in town on the Wednesday and Thursday prior to get in some practice. And when the races are finished on Sunday, Grose said most of the competitors will be moving on immediately to travel to the fourth race on the circuit in Indiana.

A request by Grose for the use of the Fair grounds and the arena to set up a "tent city" for the competitors was given a cool response by council. Councillor Bern Berry argued that supplying these facilities would take away from the business at area hotels and resorts. Berry said he had no problems with any of the other requests being made, but this one "sticks in my teeth."

"Sure (the races) put Minden on the map, but maybe we owe something to the business people," Berry said.

Grose then noted that an event like this does bring a large amount of money into the community and noted that accommodations in the area would all be full during the long weekend in any case. He also noted that other events, such as a reception at the PineStone are planned, which will contribute to businesses.

Berry also objected to that suggestion. He noted that the PineStone is not in Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships, which would mean the money is leaving the host municipality. Nesbitt did not share Berry's concern on this, saying there is no reason why the entire county could not benefit from an event held in this municipality.

Man charged in assault

A 57-year-old Haliburton village man will be facing a string of charges in relation to a March 20 break-in and sexual assault.

Minden OPP Const. Al Barnes has charged Lorne Whitney Bailey, of Birch Narrows Road with assault causing bodily harm, sexual assault, extortion, forcible confinement, break and enter with intent, and breach of probation.

On March 20, police investigated a complaint that Bailey had entered a residence the previous day and had assaulted the female occupant demanding money. The woman was forced to write several cheques and reported to police that she was later sexually assaulted.

Oomen resigns

Just over a year after accepting the role of Bylaw Enforcement Officer for Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Peter Oomen is looking for new challenges in a new career.

Oomen, who began work for the municipality at the beginning of March 1987, submitted his resignation to council last Thursday. He says his decision to resign is that the job has run out of new challenges.

"I believe any job runs out of challenges," says the former newspaper reporter and editor. "Once the job becomes too familiar, you're not learning new things," he said.

Although Oomen admits he has had disagreement with council members from time to time. He says minor disagreements are to be expected, and he has nothing against the municipality or council.

Since taking the job, Oomen has revamped the workings of the department. He has been involved in the drafting of numerous bylaws, and was often called on for advice by council. However, he says it is now time to look for new challenges, and will be investigating several options before deciding which route his future will take. Although he owns property in the area, he says he will likely be leaving to satisfy his love of travel.

When interviewed a year ago, Oomen commented on his former career: "As a journalist, I learned a lot. I did all the things I wanted to do and at that point I realized it was time for a change." The time for change has come again for Oomen, and he expects to be leaving his job with the municipality early in April.

Before leaving, though, Oomen will be staying on for a few weeks to help his replacement become familiar with the job, in the same way that Dick Schell helped him a year ago.

Home claims men's League championship in 2 straight

A lack of bench strength and the quick reflexes of Ron Telford combined to take all the steam away from Hartwick Construction as they allowed Home Hardware to steal the men's league crown with a second straight win last Monday.

Telford, who was filling in between the posts for the vacationing Bernie Neary, robbed Hartwick on dozens of scoring opportunities as Home skated to an easy 7-4 win to take the finals series in two straight.

With Telford making the big saves in the first two periods, Home compiled a 4-0 lead before the shutout was finally shattered in the final frame. Hartwick came on strong in the third, but with only eight skaters, they just couldn't maintain the pressure. Home matched them goal for goal in the last period to hold onto the win.

Scott Hamilton, who scored five times in the opening game of the series, came up big again on Monday. He scored four of the seven Home goals, while Ben Manuge, Carl Northey and Greg Carpenter each scored one.

Brian Shaw led the Hartwick squad in scoring with two. Jim Keetch scored once, as did Irwin Asbell.

Baffin Island run will help local Children's Foundation

Each year, on the northern shore of Canada's Baffin Island, 480 miles north of the Arctic Circle, a group of runners gather to challenge the treeless pass that links the Eskimo Village of Arctic Bay to the mining community of Nanisivik. On June 30 to July 4, a local runner and member of the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Foundation will join 100 runners in celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Nanisivik Midnight Sun Marathon.

In addition to running for the personal challenge, Dave McConkey will be running the marathon to raise funds for the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Foundation. The Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Foundation is a charitable organization which supports programs and measures that are consistent with the activities of the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society.

The kettle is on the boil, a pie, muffins and cookies appear from the pantry. Board backs efforts of HHSS stage band

The high school stage band will receive up to $6000 from the Haliburton County Board of Education, if the money is needed for the 23 students and three chaperones to travel to Calgary, Alberta to participate in the National Stage Band Festival. The board approved the subsidy at its regular meeting Tuesday night following a presentation by the band leader, HHSS teacher Rick Vaughan.

The teacher told the trustees that the students are prepared to contribute to the cost of the trip, become involved in fund raising activities and actively solicit funds from area service clubs and businesses. He said the estimated cost for the trip is $17,000 and the students expect to be able to raise a large portion of that amount on their own.

Mr. Vaughan described the trip to Calgary as a short and intensive educational experience during which time they will be involved in clinics, workshops, presentations by other bands and choirs as well as an opportunity to perform before their peers. He noted that the highlights of the festival, scheduled for May 18-22, will be shown on CBC television.

"The stage band will be representing the school and Haliburton County, the first time such a group has done so on a national basis," the music teacher told the board.

He told the trustees that the group has been very encouraged by the immediate and early response to their request for assistance. He said the Rotary Club of Minden has already pledged support equal to $100 per student.

Responding to questions from the trustees, Mr. Vaughan noted that the stage band has received regular support from the school's student's council, including a $2000 donation this year for the purchase of band uniforms. He pointed out that money raised late last year through the sale of oranges and grapefruit has been earmarked for other expenditures. The students will be contributing $100 each to the cost of the trip, plus their spending money.

The trustees were told there could be up to 15 bands attending from across the province.

High school Principal Andrew Hemphill offered his endorsement of the band and members. He described the band as a diligent group of students who organize their own activities, fund raising, manage the activities of the band and who have, over the last year, spent many hours developing their talents. "This is a gem of a group," the principal told the members of the board. "I give them my wholehearted support."

The board endorsed, with little discussion, the provision of up to $6,000, if required by the band, to assist in financing the excursion to Calgary, Alberta.

If this part of the province is faced with a drought again this summer, Heather Clarke and Kalala Rossowski will still be able to find water. They took second prize in the junior division of the Kinmount Public School Science Fair with their project on artesian wells. The fair was held at the Kinmount Community Centre last Wednesday with a very high quality of entries from all competitors. The winners from Wednesday's fair will move on to compete against winners from other schools in Victoria County.

Fishery laws violated

In Minden on March 15th His Worship D. Elliot heard evidence against 12 individuals relating to violations of Ontario's fishery laws. The charges had been laid by Conservation Officers conducting enforcement patrols on Lakes in Haliburton County during January and February.

Anglers who ignore the fishery laws damage the resource and reduce fishing opportunities for all sportsmen.

Merton Pleadwell of Stroud was fined $105.00 after pleading guilty to taking one Lake Trout over his limit.

John Kerr of Newmarket was fined $55.00 when he was found guilty of attempting to take fish by other than legal angling. Evidence at his trial revealed he had left a number of fishing lines out on the ice while he went back to his cottage.

Brian Avery of Ajax was fined $155.00 for angling with more than two lines.

Rob Gaboury of Huntsville was fined $55.00 when he was found guilty of being more than 60 metres from his lines while ice fishing.

Kevin Czerwinski of Hamilton, Jack Jolley of Meaford, Alvin Land of Bracebridge and Patrick Reynolds of Bowmanville were each fined $55.00 for angling with more than 2 lines.

Steve Ellis of Peterborough, Doug Hewitt of Minden, Brian Schroeder of Brantford and Kevin Smith of Brantford were each fined $55.00 for angling without a licence.

Enforcement of the fishery laws is primarily the responsibility of Ontario's Conservation Officers. You can help conserve your fishery resources by reporting any violation you see.

Wild swans resemble migrating geese

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

On a raw, blustery afternoon in mid-March I first heard migrating wild swans. Across the darkening late afternoon sky they came, black marks on grey. At first I thought they were Canada Geese, but no Canada Geese had ever sounded like this. The sound was more melodious and higher pitched, a comfortable communal sound rather like a party that is going well. The notes have been compared to soft musical laughter. Although I had never heard Tundra (formerly called whistling) Swans before, I felt sure that was what they were.

Straining my eyes I waited and watched their approach. Against the grey clouds the great white birds in a jagged line sped on, their long necks outstretched, their big black feet trailing, their powerful wings beating a sedate effortless beat which would eventually carry them far to the north. The call of those great birds was electrifying and intensely moving.

Because they are highly visible, their spectacular migration across the Great Lakes is as much a sign of the end of winter as the first running of the sap. Early in March they begin their long trek from the Atlantic coast moving ever north and west. Once they must have blanketed the shores of the Great Lakes while they rested and fed before continuing on their way to the high Arctic. Now such congregations occur only at certain special places like Long Point on Lake Erie.

The Tundra Swan has a circumpolar breeding distribution and breeds from Baffin Island to Alaska, wintering on both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. Formerly these stately birds were thoughtlessly slaughtered throughout their range. In Northern Ontario the nesting population of Tundra Swans, which was extirpated during the early days of the fur trade, is only now beginning to recover. The first breeding record is as recent as 1973. Slowly the population appears to be growing and it is hoped that, as there is much suitable habitat in the Hudson Bay region, the breeding population will continue to expand.

The Tundra Swan is a noble bird, stately and graceful in the air or on the water, and mild in temperament with a gentle eye. Only its wariness and the remoteness of much of its breeding grounds has saved it from the fate of the Trumpeter Swan, which was extirpated in Ontario sometime in the 19th century.

About the middle of March, I will make the trek to Aylmer and Long Point to hear and see the swans yet again. They will be gathered in the marshes and ponds, or resting like drifts of new snow in the ploughed fields. Somehow the spectacular movement of these great birds stirs some atavistic instinct in me and the trip becomes a pilgrimage which links me to countless other springs and gives me hope for future ones.

Kyla meets Brian

Kyla Grexton of Minden experienced a thrill of a lifetime recently when she had an opportunity to meet Canadian figure skating champion Brian Orser. The ten year old travelled with her mother, Leitha, brother Garrett and friend Marita Schrader to Orillia to take part in the festivities welcoming Brian home from his silver medal performance at the Calgary Olympics. Kyla had a chance to talk with the popular figure skater and obtained his autograph. Kyla's mother snapped this souvenir photograph of Brian Orser and her daughter.

Violet and Garnet Coulter of Campbell River, B.C. and Frances Crawford of Calgary are spending a week with relatives and friends and being at Angus Coulter's special birthday dinner.

Karen Shaw and Mary Smith enjoyed several days in Ottawa.

Grace and Ern Voycey were at their cottage at Redstone on the weekend of March 20 when there was a surprise family gathering to celebrate Ern's birthday. Belated good wishes from this village.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of these people, Jack Stevenson, Mrs. A. A. Pilcher, and Mrs. A. Bate-man whose funerals were since last week.

Marjorie Coulter had all her family to visit her over the weekend and all were present at Angus Coulter's birthday party.

Winners at the Tuesday night Euchre games at Gelert Centre were for lone hands Paul Hilyer, and others Ruth Kellett, Gladys Reid, Bob Vick and Chris Hill with next games there being April 5th.

Isobel and Ingram Wessell who live near the boundary were pleasantly surprised with a 25th wedding anniversary party on March 23rd. Present were family and friends. Congratulations.

Some people reported under the weather include Vic Martin, Yvonne Guida, George Davidson, Sylvia Gilbert, Joan Kernohan and Edna Cowen. Good wishes to all.

Club 35 had a special pot luck supper on Friday, March 18 and the winner of the door prize for these games was Ken Wallace. Most lone hands went to Jim Bradbury, high lady - Olive Daniels, high man - Jim McCarthy and others - Mary Stevenson, Myrna McCarthy and Gord Martin.

At the regular Monday games winners were - door prize - Ruby Cartwright, most lone hands - Jim Foster, high lady - Edith Russell, high man - Bill Ireland and others - Pearl Foster, Eleanor Bunker and Ken Thompson.

Recent guests with Joyce Hewitt were the Fred Hewitts of Barrie and cousin Nell Finley and her friend Mrs. Howlett of Lindsay.

'Grandpa Joe' of N.J. is visiting with Rev. and Mrs. George Elliott, Elizabeth and Matthew.

Ron and Shirley Cox of Peterborough visited over the weekend with Mary Cox and other relatives.

Shirley Elcome is pleased to be back home after spending several months in Toronto with relatives and friends.

Annie Kernohan and Tom and Barb Parish enjoyed March break at Myrtle Beach.

Some people having birthdays are Colin Hewitt on March 29, Dana Mann and Jim and John McKelvey on March 24th and Verna Jarvis at Hyland Crest on March 28th, with happy birthdays to all.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Hyland Crest would like to thank everyone who attended the St. Patrick's Day Card Party and a good time was had by all with many prizes given out.

Here's a hint I just found, now winter is nearly over if you have odd mitts, make a face on one and you have an instant puppet.

Recent guests with Florence and Joe Dollo have been Sherry Niemann of Bowmanville and Angie and Carl Strauss and Tony McCloskev of Millbrook.

I missed that the Campbell's and Weiss's also were away on a holiday at Malta.

At long last March is leaving. Snow may be nice but sunshine is beaming. So now we have a long weekend. But this is the time to put to an end Of all those coats, mitts and caps. With Eastertime, get a new hat; Take it with you to show That you are really in the know. It's great to see the sun so bright And Church on Sunday is just right. So all the best for spring to come And to all visitors a great big welcome. Jay Hello Readers: A beautiful day! Lots of birds flying around making it look like spring.

Our Thursday tea was served by the Ladies from Allsaw. It was lovely as usual and enjoyed by all.

On Saturday I had my grandson Bob Lyle, his wife and two boys from North Bay to visit me and in the evening another grandson Derek Hewitt from Burlington. It's nice that they think of me. I really enjoy seeing them. Winnie Barnum had her son and his wife in for dinner on their way home from a two week holiday in Florida. Bert Harrison had some of his one time neighbours from the north in to see him. They saw nine deer on the way day.

Our new Administrator has arrived this week. His name is Mr. Dwight Morley.

Our chapel service Sunday evening was by Rev. J. Burgess and on Tuesday morning by Rev. Kent of the Baptist Church.

We are glad to have two of our ladies, Mrs. Burgess and Edna Cowan home from the hospital. Sorry to say Ruby Lewis is still confined to bed. We hope she will soon be well. Sorry to say Royce Harrison, Joachim Gauthier and Mary O'Toole are in hospital. We wish them a speedy recovery.

The movies this Monday were "Big Cats" and "The Beauty of My People".

Margaret Miller had lunch with her father Angus Coulter on Tuesday.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Q: What do you give an elephant with big feet?
A: Plenty of room.

Q: If a camel's head is pointing to the north, would its tail be pointing to the south?
A: No, to the ground.

Q: What's the difference between a man riding a bicycle and the dog running beside him?
A: The man wears trousers and the dog pants.

Local weaver speaks to Women's group

On Wednesday, March 16, members of Minden Women's Institute met at the Library Cultural Centre at 2 p.m. with Mrs. M. Sears in charge. She welcomed all and read a verse. The usual opening followed and then Convenor, Mrs. D. Berry, introduced our speaker, Ted Carson. He spoke at length of his experiences in weaving and spinning wool and his workshops in this field in both Canada and other countries. He had moved to a farm at Lochlin and has his own sheep and uses this wool. He now has an outlet in Minden and also has catalogues for ordering a variety of threads and wools. Mrs. Lyman Cox thanked him and presented a little gift and all responded with applause.

A brief business meeting followed with 14 members and 3 guests all having a 'touch of green'; two of these being Mrs. Berry's granddaughters and one of whom won the guess for the shamrocks.

Mrs. W. Moore gave her report of 22 cards sent to ill, for birthdays or in sympathy and collections were taken for card fund and Pennies for Friendship.

Notice was made that this group has had the third Wednesday afternoon for their meetings for nearly 80 years and we wish other groups would leave this one for us.

Next meeting will be at the same location, April 20th, with Tweedsmuir Books on display. Some of the members bought their new handbooks which were available. A lunch and cup of tea was served by the committee after the adjournment.

Jeanne Sears, P.R.O.

JOE WARBURTON

Joe Warburton

April 11, 1908 - March 14, 1988

Born in Malpas, Cheshire, England

Son of the late Joe and Jessie Warburton. He had a brother Bert and sister Marion, both predeceased.

His father died in England in the year 1911 at thirty years of age.

Mrs. Warburton and her family travelled to Canada by boat to make a new home in 1914.

In Canada Joe's mother remarried to an Albert Allan. He had three half brothers - Edward, Charlie and Frank. All predeceased.

The family resided in the village of Rockcroft, Township of Harvey in Peterborough County. He lived and worked on a farm for his step father. He left school at the age of eleven to help keep the family on the farm, as his step father was partially blind.

He worked for a number of years for P & L Lumber camps in the winter months.

In March 1929 at the age of twenty-one he met his bride-to-be Lila Nesbitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nesbitt of Horseshoe Lake, Minden. They were married in Lindsay, March 12, 1930.

They moved to Lakehurst to live and work on a farm.

They spent seventeen years there.

Moved north to Minden in 1946 to start a new life in Haliburton Highlands.

The same year he bought his first Mercury Dump Truck.

He was the father of seven children -
Glen of Lindsay

Eileen (Mrs. Keith Hughes) of Minden

Barbara (Mrs. Nick Cromoshuk) of Toronto

Garry and Ross both of Minden

Randy of Haliburton

Paul of Scarborough - and also raised a grandson
Dereck of Haliburton

He worked with his dump and log trucks all over Ontario until he retired with poor health at the age of 68 in 1976.

Disaster struck the family twice. In 1945 the oldest son Glen was left with a crippled arm when he fell from a horse and was kicked.

Again in 1955 when the family lost their home and all their belongings in a fire.

He leaves to mourn 24 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren. Predeceased by granddaughter Donna Lynn.

As his lifetime wish, his granddaughters Shannon, Sharron, Debbie, Gayle, Karen, Christine, Daureena and Nicole were pallbearers and grandsons Lonnie, Glen, Dereck, Dwayne, Kevin, Darren and Jeremy were Honorary Pallbearers. His funeral was March 17th from the Monk Funeral Home. Spring interment at Ingoldsby Cemetery.

He was a great husband, father, grandfather and provider.

He will be missed by everyone who knew and loved him.

OPP forecast marked increase in Easter traffic

While weather may be unpredictable, it's a certain forecast that the Ontario Provincial Police will be out in force this Easter Holiday long weekend.

OPP Commissioner Tom O'Grady has indicated the OPP will vigorously enforce all provincial statutes.

"This Easter weekend will see a marked increase in the number of people travelling on provincial highways and the OPP is committed to doing everything possible to see they arrive at their destinations safely," said Commissioner O'Grady.

Starting Friday, April 1, the OPP will have more than 500 cruisers on provincial highways equipped with radar and roadside breath testers. The Commissioner has asked detachment commanders across the province to remind all traffic officers to be vigilant.

Last year, the OPP issued in excess of 10,000 provincial offence summonses under the Highway Traffic Act during the Easter weekend. 240 drivers were charged with alcohol-related driving offenses while 432 others had their drivers' licences suspended for 12 hours.

In 1986, seven people died in five accidents and 244 persons were injured in 163 accidents. In 1985, eight people died in eight accidents and 357 people were injured in 225 accidents. In 1984, 10 people died in 10 accidents and 262 people were injured in 176 accidents.

"Any traffic death is a needless tragedy. Safe, sober driving saves lives. Anyone who ignores that fact puts themselves and others at risk and this Easter weekend OPP officers will be on the lookout for those deadly drivers," said Commissioner O'Grady.

Have you filed an Income Tax Return for 1986 and 1987? For each year filed, a family with a net income not exceeding $15,000 could qualify for a credit of up to $100 for a married couple and $25 for each dependent under 18 years of age. Families with a greater net income may be eligible for a lesser credit amount.

If you did not file because you had no taxable income to declare, you may still be eligible for this credit. If you did file and neglected to claim this credit, but believe you meet the eligibility criteria, write to the nearest District Taxation Office and request an adjustment.

For anyone wishing to file, the Haliburton County Information Centre has a supply of 1986 and 1987 Tax Returns and will be most happy to assist with its completion. Just bring with you the necessary information required, the following check list may be helpful.

Official opening April 15

submitted

Each week at the Drop-In Centre the card enthusiasts hone up on their bridge, euchre and cribbage skills in anticipation of this Actifest '88 year, and the local Ontario Senior Games in May and June.

There are major changes in golf and five pin bowling rules, in that each entrant must have a handicap, which of course will be used to determine the six golfers, and the five-person bowling team to represent District 11 at Brampton in August, against their peers from all Ontario.

"Active Bowlers" please record, on your registration form, the handicap with which you ended the 1987 - 88 season; "non-regular Bowlers" be prepared to bowl at least six games to permit suitable rating - or accept a 190 average. Convenors Bea and John James will assist.

"Club golfers", with access to OGA or RCGA handicapping systems, please record your latest handicap; "casual golfers" please submit either the best 10 of last 20 scores, best six of last ten, or your last five scores, showing the par and course played (note if nine holes, double to 18). The golf convenors Vi and Jim Aikman will with the assistance of a club pro, allot reasonable handicaps based on information given. An adjustment will be made after the qualifying round.

We urge you to watch for and please try to attend the official opening of the Ontario Senior Games in Haliburton County on April 15 at the Haliburton County Home Support Services dinner meeting at PineStone Inn and Country Club - to register call the office - 457-2941.

Proposed Class Environmental Assessment by the Ministry of Natural Resources for Timber Management on Crown Lands in Ontario

IN THE MATTER OF Section 12(2) and 12(3) of the Environmental Assessment Act (R.S.O. 1980, c. 140), as amended

— and —
IN THE MATTER OF a Notice by the Honourable Jim Bradley, Minister of the Environment, requiring the Environmental Assessment Board to hold a hearing with respect to a Class Environmental Assessment (No. NR-AA-03) of an undertaking by the Ministry of Natural Resources for the activity of timber management on Crown Lands in Ontario.

EXPLANATION

The purpose of the Class Environmental Assessment is to obtain approval for this undertaking. The Class EA contains a planning procedure which will ensure that environmental effects and public input will be considered in the planning and implementation of all Timber Management Plans on Crown Lands in Ontario.

Approval of the undertaking for which this Class EA has been prepared would allow the proponent to carry out projects within the Class in the future without applying for further approval under the Environmental Assessment Act, on the condition that the environmentally based planning process described in the Class EA is followed. During project planning, any person can request that a full individual Environmental Assessment be done if that person has serious environmental concerns.

On the 14th day of October, 1987 the Honourable Jim Bradley, the Minister of the Environment gave Notice of a request from the Minister of Natural Resources for a hearing pursuant to the Environmental Assessment Act with respect to:

- (a) the acceptance or amendment and acceptance of the environmental assessment;
- (b) whether approval to proceed with the undertaking in respect of which the environmental assessment was submitted should or should not be given; and,
- (c) whether the approval to proceed should be given subject to terms and conditions and, if so, the provisions of such terms and conditions.

On the 10th day of December, 1987 a Notice of Completion of Review by the Ontario Government ministries and agencies of the class environmental assessment was given to the Environmental Assessment Board. The public review period under S.7(2) of the Act expired on January 27, 1988.
